The Busy Saleswoman.

"The strains upon the physical condition of the busy saleswoman are the proper performance of her duties is very fatiguing. When her day's work is ended she is tired out—all of her energy seems to be completely exhausted. This daily strain causes her to lose her health and it is absolutely necessary to retain a proper measure, certain organs of the body continually overtaxed and are gradually debilitated. However, it is possible to preserve her health and to keep her active in body and in such a condition that fullest quota of measurement and energy derived from her body.

"Saleswomen of the dry and S. S. Co. of Liver Oil, one of the greatest health tonic. It aids nutrition, keeps the blood, keeps the glands, restores strength and energy and is valuable in all cases of debility. It is sold by all druggists. From A. Watson & Co., New York.

Chinese Intrusion at Shanghai.

Complaints are daily being made (see the N. C. Daily News) about the monopolization of some of the seats on the foreign-bound steamships by Chinese. It is very difficult, on a day when the weather is fine, to recover a seat which is, or has not been very recently occupied by natives whose uncleanliness is of such a nature that it adheres to everything with which it comes in contact. The notices, in Chinese characters, on each ship warning of natives not respected because of their uncleanliness, are so numerous that it is hardly ever enforced by the police. The Chinamen now want to sit down and do so on the seats provided for their apes, because along the back part of the forenoon, the police authorities ought not certainly to see that Chinamen are continually subjected to annoyance which could easily be prevented by the strict native sanitation regulations.

B.M.S. Penny, with only 23 men, in charge of the railway station and the four months until the arrival of reinforcements. His position during that time was one of great responsibility for so young a man and was very creditably performed.

The Nursing Institution.
Nurses E. L. Gray, the first of the sisters engaged to work in connection with the Rochester Nursing Institution, arrived in the Colony by the last English mail.

[illegible]

Inspector Armstrong, of the detective department, who has seen the written request, refused to give our representative any information. This is a case in which the fullest information should be given, although only to contradict the various rumors which are in circulation concerning the missing man and our current account for the unusual reticence on the part of the police. It is our intention to discover whether the police intend taking any steps to locate or rescue, if such be necessary.

Hongkong, December 12, 1900,

A grainy, high-contrast black and white photograph of a textured surface, possibly a wall or ceiling. The surface is covered in a dense pattern of small, light-colored specks or fibers. In the upper center, there is a dark, irregular shape that appears to be a shadow or a hole. The overall image quality is poor, with significant noise and artifacts.

A black and white illustration of a man with a mustache, wearing a tuxedo and a bow tie. He is holding a bottle of Schlitz beer in his right hand. The bottle has a label that reads 'SCHLITZ' and 'PILSENER BEER'. The man is looking directly at the viewer with a slight smile. The background is plain white.
